Profile Summary:

A passionate, dedicated full-stack developer and former HR generalist with experience of working individually and as part of a team.

After relocating to the UK and completing my MA in HRM, I gained some experience of working in HR administrative roles. After the pandemic, I started working as a chef which mainly taught me how to work under high-pressure in a team. Having positive attitude and working hard are the main keys for me to overcome challenges through my career development.

Currently, I'm looking to build my professional Software Developer career, joining a 9-month web-development bootcamp with CodeYourFuture. I am finalising my full-stack project and looking for my next opportunity in Tech.
